Bishop Manning Says Time Has Come to Act

New York Churchman Advocates an United Stand by All Creeds to Stem the Tide Toward Free Love.

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 17.—Calling upon all religious organizations, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish, to unite for concerted action against easy divorce, Bishop William T. Manning of the Episcopal church, yesterday declared that the system of monogamous marriage is rapidly being abandoned in the United States and that the nation has almost reached a condition of "legalized free love."

His remarks were part of a Lenten sermon on "The present crisis with regard to marriage in the home."

"To allow women and men to live together for a time and then with legal sanction on trivial and frivolous grounds to separate them and allow new alliances as they please," he said, "is in principle to abolish marriage and to adopt a system of legalized free love. This is a system we have never allowed ourselves to reach."

He then cited recent statistics of several states, adding that the proportion of divorces to marriages is appalling.

"In our country there is now one divorce for every eight marriages and in some states there is one divorce for every two or three marriages. The influence of religion against divorce and remarriage is weakened by varying standards of different churches and even of different ministers of the same church."

DATE OF REVIVAL CHANGED
A revival meeting at Rock Springs church will begin next Wednesday night instead of on March 15th as originally proposed.

Negress Dies Of Wound; Alleged Slayer At Large

Annie Brice, colored, was shot and killed by her husband last night about ten o'clock following a quarrel and disturbance the details of which have not been learned. The police did not hear of the killing until this morning about seven o'clock. Brice was then arrested at the Western Union Telegraph office by Officer W. C. Talley, and is now in jail charged with murder. Brice has been taken to the police station and only meagre details have been learned of the actual killing. No one was in the house at the time of the shooting except Brice and her husband. The police officers were called and only one of them looked effect striking the woman in the left side of the body. After the negro had been mortally wounded his wife called for Cora Matthews and told her he had shot his wife. The police were called and the wounded negress removed to Providence Hospital where she died a short time later. The shooting occurred in the colored settlement on the lower end of North Ridge street. The police department was not notified either by the hospital attendants or the attending physicians and had not been at seven o'clock this morning. Police Officer Talley was approached by a man on Union street early this morning and asked about the shooting. About the same time, Sergeant H. T. Haisaway got word of the affair and an investigation was started. It was learned that the slayer was at large and a search for him was begun. In making further inquiries Officer Talley learned that the negro was somewhere on the street. The officer met John McLaughlin, local fireman, who told him that Brice had just gone down Main street. Talley and McLaughlin started down the street and had turned into Claghead street, when they found the body of the negress and saw Brice. The negro was arrested and taken to jail.

City Delegation Going to Richmond To Fight for Bill

Senate Committee Which Has Never Passed on Anderson Measure to Increase Taxes to Hear Pros and Cons

With the General Assembly adjourned over the week and a further opportunity was afforded today by citizens interested in the development of the school building program to prepare for a show-down fight which will take place in Richmond probably next Tuesday. The committee, which ordinarily would have passed on the amendments but which apparently did not have an opportunity to do so since they were passed on when they were called upon on the floor of the Senate, is understood to have set Tuesday as date for the hearing on the bill which would amend the charter of the city of Danville. This is conceded as meaning that the entire matter will be reopened and the fight will be staged before the committee. Should the committee recommend the passage of the original bill as introduced by Major Anderson, and which passed the House, the chances of passage by the State Senate are considerably improved.

The committee hearing means that the identity of those opposing the bill will become known for the School Board proposes to send to Richmond a strong committee of citizens to advocate the Anderson bill and in all probability there will be a group of opponents to its passage. This will afford an opportunity of seeing who who in the tax bill fight.

The ambiguity of the hearing which has been used by opponents of the Anderson bill was exploded today. Part of the opposition to the bill is based on the elasticity in the phraseology of the bill in being represented by those hostile to its passage that the tax increase could be used by the council for any purpose. A study of the original charter of the city of Danville which has stood for forty years, reveals exactly the same phraseology as that complained of. The words "For the proper execution of its powers and duties and to meet the wants and purposes of the city" etc. are in the preamble of the original tax provision in the city charter and the bill which is now before the General Assembly, merely incorporated the same phraseology as a preamble to the new bill. It is also noted that in reaching a compromise on the amendment which was satisfactory to the school board that no step was taken by opponents of the bill to eliminate the words complained of which could have been done by striking a pencil through them.

So far as could be ascertained by the school board today there is no change in the legislative situation at Richmond and there is still time and opportunity to lay the whole question of the tax bill before the committee on its merits in time for a report and action by the House.

Observers of the situation see the inevitable hand of politics in the legislative process which the Danville tax bill has passed through during the past few days, and there appears in those quarters where the $350,000 bond issue and the twenty cents tax increase is championed, a well developed restlessness over what is conceived by them as being an effort to govern the city of Danville through the halls of the state legislature, rather than through those constituted bodies elected by the people to administer the city.

Flat denial was made by Post J. Hundley this morning that he had represented the Danville school board in Richmond in promoting the passage of the Anderson bill. Yesterday Luther R. Fair made the statement that the school board was aware of the fact that the bill was being opposed, that Mr. Hundley had been retained to represent the school board in Richmond and that Mr. Hundley had travelled to Richmond on the same train with him and Harry Wooding, Jr.

Mr. Hundley said this morning that he was not retained by the school board in that capacity and that he went to Richmond on another matter.

War Department Authorizes Use Of Battle Flags

29th Division's Streamer Will Bear Inscriptions "Meuse-Argonne" and "Alsace".

By GEORGE H. MANNING (Special to The Bee)
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 17.—"Meuse-Argonne" and "Alsace" are the inscriptions authorized by the War Department to be carried on the streamer with the colors of units of the Twenty-Ninth Division, in recognition of the active service of that division in the war. The Twenty-Ninth Division included the Virginia National Guard units. These inscriptions are designated for all four of the infantry regiments—the 113th, 114th, 115th, and 116th; and for the three machine gun battalions—the 110th, 111th, and 112th; and for the 94th engineers and 104th field signal battalions. The 104th engineer unit, the 104th sanitary train, and the divisional headquarters troops are also officially credited with service in these two engagements, but have no colors, and therefore cannot use streamers. The 113th, 114th, and 112th field artillery, the 104th trench mortar battery, and the 104th ammunition train, while participating in the theatre of operations from the middle of July, 1918 to the time of the armistice, were not engaged in any of the major campaigns and are not entitled to any inscriptions for their battle streamers.

The use of streamers to denote service dates back to the revolution. It was formerly the custom for each unit to bear attached to its colors a different streamer for every engagement in which it had taken part; but due to the multiplicity of the streamers acquired by some regiments it was decided to limit the number to two suitable inscriptions on that for each campaign.

Under this arrangement, the War Department has been engaged for the past year or two in compiling the complete combat records of all the troops who were sent to France, and issuing from time to time in the general orders the official records of the various divisions with authorization for the appropriate inscriptions to be attached to the regimental colors.

The record for the 29th division shows that the service rendered in the Meuse-Argonne was from October 5th to October 30, 1918, while from July 25 to September 23, 1918, the greater part of the division was in combat service in the Center Sector, for which the Alsace inscription was awarded.

The twenty-ninth, which was trained at Camp McClellan, Ala., was a national guard division, and was composed of about one-fourth Virginia, one-third New Jersey, a fifth Maryland, and the remainder from the District of Columbia and replacement troops.

Organized late in July, 1917, earlier than any other division except the first, the 29th was the twenty-fourth to reach France, getting across late in the following June.

THRILLING RESCUE AT MILTON OF TWO BOYS CAUGHT IN DAN RIVER

The Schoolfield police department was appealed to yesterday this morning by a man who arrived here in an automobile from Milton, N. C., who said that two small boys in trying to ford Dan river at that point had plunged the depth of the river, swollen heavily by the heavy recent rains and were lodged on a knoll in the middle of the swimming stream which was gradually reaching them. County officers went to the scene to assist, it is understood. The messenger said that efforts had been made to reach the boys on a raft and to get a line to them but the stream was running so swiftly that they could not be reached.

The horse and buggy in which they had tried to ford the stream had been swept away, it was reported, and the horse drowned.

Efforts made this afternoon to obtain full particulars were only partially successful. Milton once the metropolis of a big area has no telephone connections with the outside world, and the nearest point which could be reached was Estelle, which is some distance beyond Yanceyville towards Milton.

At Estelle the telephone operator said that the two colored boys were rescued "shortly before noon." She stated that one was named Hughes and the other Palmer and that Albert Brandon and Vance Buck, two white men had stripped and entered the stream with ropes and had accomplished the rescue. She said further that the two colored boys aged about fourteen years, were trying to ford the river when in some way they lost the road and one wheel of the buggy went into deep water. The vehicle capsized and the horse, buggy and two youths were swept into the stream not far from one of the bridges. The horse entangled in harness was quickly drowned. The boys managed to cling to the boughs of a tree and the two colored boys with much crying loudly for help. A crowd soon collected on the bank and shouted words of encouragement to them and they were told to climb into the tree and keep up their courage. Several efforts to reach the boys with hastily made rafts, proved futile. The two men named, reached the tree and many willing hands pulled the lines and dragged them through the torrent back to land.

Countryman Ready To Meet Charges In Rockingham

Carl C. Countryman, wanted at Leesville, N. C., on the charge of embezzlement was lodged in Danville jail this morning. He arrived with Deputy Sheriff Dillon from New York and will be taken to Reidsville this afternoon.

Countryman managed to the deputy sheriff left here for Wentworth at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The accused, who showed the effects of a recent confinement, said that he had no statement to make relative to the charge that he embezzled $425 from the Boulevard Bank of Leesville, N. C. He may have a statement to make later, he added. He stated, however, that he would be prepared to meet the charges but did not feel disposed to discuss his affairs until he has retained counsel.

Countryman said he had recently been allowed lecturing travelling through Europe. He also said that he had been in Mexico.

Deputy Dillon said that the extradition was successful only after several cards of red tape had been unrolled. This represented the presence in New York of the cashier of the Leesville Bank and it was this which resulted in the delay in bringing the accused back to North Carolina.

Local Tobacco Season Closed On Yesterday

While the bells of the Danville auction warehouses rang the knell of the present season yesterday it was decided by the sales committee of the Danville Tobacco Association to have one more sale this season, this to be held Thursday at all of the warehouses now operating on the auction system.

The step was taken because of the fact that a number of shipments of tobacco by freight have been delayed and because of the fact that widespread illness in some rural sections has prevented the farmers from getting their tobacco in. This sale will be unofficial in that the number of pounds sold will not be included in the record of the season which closed today. The final sales this morning were usually light and sales were concluded early.

Figures for the entire season given out yesterday afternoon showed that the total amount of tobacco sold was $7,411,436 pounds for $8,578,784.88, the average being $11.22.

The season will long stand out as one of acrimony of rival claims and rival championships for the auction and the pool methods. Danville early in the season when the lines were tightly drawn took the broader view and declined to become a community to become partisan but adopted the course of affording to farmers who for years have come to Danville the opportunity of selling and disposing of their tobacco in the way they thought best. The city comes through a trying period with clean hands after affording an equal opportunity to both sides of a clear cut issue.

While the auction men formally closed the season today the 'pool' will continue to operate for the acceptance of deliveries until the last day of this month.

The annual meeting of the Danville Tobacco Association will be held early in the coming month when John E. Haver, president of the organization will review the year.

One of the directors of the Danville Warehouse Co. was interviewed yesterday in regard to the future of the auction system. He said that all the warehouses of the Danville Warehouse Co. would be operated the same as they have been during the past season; that the board of directors in reviewing the statement for the past season at a meeting held Thursday were more than pleased; that the past season had been such a success that the common stock had been put on a new cent basis on double that of the preceding year, that the same officers and directors who had managed the company for the past year were all re-elected at the annual stockholders meeting.

PRAYER BRINGS BACK THREE KIDNAPPED CHILDREN TO HER

(Special to The Bee.)
FRANKLIN, Tex., March 17.—For 53 years Mrs. Pollyanna Busby, 96, has prayed nightly. She has asked that her three sons, stolen from her at the close of the Civil War, be returned. Now the three sons, grown to manhood and fathers of families, have been reunited with their aged mother. It looks like a queer twist of fate. But, says Mrs. Busby: "It is only an answer to my prayers. It is a proof of the potency of prayer."

Here is the story—a story equal in its pathos and heart interest to Longfellow's tale of Evangeline and Gabriel. In 1865 Mrs. Busby was living happily in Meridian, Miss., with her three sons—William, 8, Henry, 5, and Stephen, 4. The father, a Confederate soldier, had been slain at Vicksburg, Texas.

At that time vast numbers of slaves in the war-torn Confederacy were emigrating to seek their fortune in Texas.

One of these emigrants was the Meridian village doctor, William and Henry, the two older Busby boys, interestedly watched the physician as he loaded his meager household supplies into his cart.

"Jump in, boys, and I'll give you a ride," said the doctor.

That ride did not end until the boys, their resistance conquered by the doctor's ox-whips, reached the doctor's claim in Texas. There they were reduced to the status of peons, laboring on the farm without pay and subjected to cruel mistreatment.

They finally effected their escape working from farm to farm, they reached the Oklahoma frontier.

There they grew to manhood. They labored hard, saved their earnings, married, bought farms, prospered.

William, a man of strong religious convictions, finally became a Baptist minister.

Meanwhile, back in Mississippi, Stephen, the youngest son, too was stolen and taken to Texas. He escaped, went to Oklahoma and settled on a farm there.

More than a quarter of a century ago Henry and William learned of Stephen's identity.

They believed their mother had emigrated to Texas.

At the beginning of this year their search for her was still on. Henry, 68, was a farmer at Okemah, Okla. Stephen, 64, was prospering on his land at Thakerville, Okla.

Grandson Starts Quest.

William, now 69, was living the quiet life of a clergyman at Mangum, Okla. His eldest son, H. G. L. Busby, likewise had heard the call of the church and had been ordained a minister.

On the shoulders of the younger man William unfolded the task of seeking the long-lost mother.

Young Busby became pastor of a charge here in Franklin. In his spare hours he traveled miles into the surrounding country, stopping at every farmhouse and farm for information of his grandmother.

Finally, on an errand of mercy, Busby stopped one night for food at a solitary farmhouse near Marquez. Replying to questions he told the farm woman of his quest.

"Why, there's a woman just a piece down the road who's spent her life looking for her three sons," said the farm woman.

Leaving his dinner untouched young Busby leaped into his flivver and went to the indicated farmhouse. There he found Mrs. Busby—now Mrs. Duke. She had remarried. She told Busby her story.

"You are my grandmother," he said.

Dr. Dunlingson is Guest of Honor at Banquet Last Night

The Rev. Joseph Dunlingson, D. D. of Selma, Ala., who has been called to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church, was the guest of honor at a banquet last night in the dining hall of the church, given by the Brotherhood. Despite the weather the attendance was large. Dr. Dunlingson arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and will be here until Monday. He will preach morning and evening Sunday at the church.

The toastmaster of the occasion was Harry Wooding, Jr., who has the happy faculty of blending various elements in a united scheme of things. Mr. Wooding introduced the speakers, performing this duty with a facility and point that were marked. After the leaders in the church and Sunday school had told of the many-sided efforts of the Danville church, had impressed Dr. Dunlingson with the obvious need of a leader and pastor, the minister from Alabama was called upon for a talk.

Dr. Dunlingson responded with a brief speech on the first and last duty of a church member. A and Z duties, the speaker called them. A stood for attendance. All church work and devotion grew out of the simple essential of coming to church and joining with other members in worship. It was held that attendance began as a duty and ended as a privilege. The Z of church work stood for zeal, broad word, which comprehended energy, loyalty, persistence and faith. The speaker intimated that if he should act favorably upon the call which had been extended to him that he would look for these fundamentals in the membership. The speaker made a splendid impression upon his hearers.

The first man called upon by the toastmaster was the night watch Superintendent W. C. Griggs, a former Alabamian. Prof. Griggs was asked to tell Dr. Dunlingson how Virginians treated Alabamians. He responded in a happy vein, illustrated his remarks with a number of amusing anecdotes, and concluded by assuring the minister that he would make no mistake in coming to Danville.

A former college mate of Dr. Dunlingson, Will Parker, explained why the minister should come from the standpoint of an old friend.

Then various members of the church took the floor and, in detail, told of the nature and character of the enterprises which had been undertaken by the church and which needed a leader at the present time that they might be carried forward with greater assurance of success. Among these speakers might be mentioned Dr. C. E. Harper, Dr. R. N. Harper, George P. Geoghegan Jr., T. S. Williamson, Prof. John A. Cook, E. C. Albright, Col. A. B. Carrington, Col. W. M. Kemper, W. W. Moore, John T. Watson and Mayor Harry Wooding.

The ladies of the church had prepared a splendid supper for the occasion and the evening was saved by the younger ladies. A rising vote of thanks was extended to the ladies for their most essential part in making the evening the success it was.

A music was furnished by a quartet composed of Rame, Browder, Eanes, and Ramos, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. R. R. Murray.

The evening closing, G. C. Temple, chairman of the Every Member Can Vast Committee read a list of the workers who will make the canvass of the church membership Sunday afternoon.

The friends of Miss Gertrude Elmore, a member of the Nurses Training Class of Edmunds Hospital, will learn with regret that she is confined to her room with a slight illness.

Co-ops and Labor Federation May Form Alliance

As the date for the annual convention of the Virginia division of the American Federation of Labor to be held in Danville draws near, thought is being given in labor circles to what may prove to be an alliance of the co-operative marketing organization with the hosts of labor. Should this develop it will be an outstanding feature of the State convention.

The convention will be the first to be held in the new Masonic Temple. It will be called to order on April 2nd and will last for three days with about 200 delegates from all parts of the State.

Samuel Compers, president of the American Federation of Labor, will be here to make an address, presiding his physicians think he has recovered sufficiently from his recent attack of bronchitis to come south. While Mr. Compers' condition is reported as improving it is questionable if he will be here and he will be here provided he can delay his proposed departure for Europe to investigate co-operative marketing and banking organizations there. Senator LaFollette is going abroad at the request of President Harding to bring new information on this subject to the Senate from other climes. The belief is expressed here that he will come to Danville and will so arrange his affairs as to depart immediately after the Virginia event.

The pressing invitation to Senator LaFollette taken in connection with his broad and striking views on the co-operative question is added significance when taken in conjunction with the alleged quiet discussion proposed affiliation of the marketing organization with labor. A bond of amity, it is reported, is already well established between these two organizations and a step towards definite cohesion would have tremendous political significance in the State of Virginia.

Especially the representation of labor conventions in Virginia is unusually large. This year it is proposed to reduce representation to a minimum so that the task before the convention can be handled expeditiously. Very probably there will be one representative for every five hundred labor men in the State.

TWO WOMEN ARE ACQUITTED OF THEFT CHARGE

Mrs. Rose Graham and Mrs. Tom Howerton, charged with the theft of two coats from Rippe's store, were acquitted by a jury yesterday afternoon in Corporation Court. The evidence in the case was conflicting. Prosecution witnesses gave testimony which pointed directly at the two women. However, defense witnesses told a different story and this interjected into the case that element of doubt which worked to acquit the defendants.

GARDEN CLUB PLANS ITS WORK FOR THE SUMMER

The Danville Garden club, which is doing much to beautify this city, held its first regular meeting for the season yesterday in the residence of Mrs. E. V. Booth, West Main street, and outlined plans for its work during the spring, summer and early autumn.

Incidentally the officers heretofore elected or re-elected entered upon their official duties. These are Mrs. S. R. Dula, president; Mrs. H. L. Boatwright, first vice president; Mrs. B. V. Scott, second vice president; Mrs. John P. Swanson, treasurer; Mrs. A. E. Carrington, recording secretary; Mrs. Raymond Hall, corresponding secretary.

The club has decided to make a special study this season of wild flowers and to acquire greater familiarity with their number, beauty and variety and their names.

The club will celebrate Garden Week April 23rd to 28th, and will therefore devote itself to floriculture and the beautification of yards and gardens. It is increasing in interest and naturally in membership also.

FASHION SHOW PLEASES MANY

The first edition of the Fashion Show presented last night in the auditorium of the Hixon Park school proved a success far beyond the expectations of the sponsors, the entertainment committee of the Wednesday Afternoon Club. There were a number of features that stood out last night on the varied program, which was kaleidoscopic in the number and different kinds of gowns shown; but the number which attracted the most attention was that put on by the Gift Shop which used as mediums a number of little girls. These tots were dressed in the very latest fashions in children's wear.

Besides the Gift Shop, the Quality Shop Brown and Rippe took part in the program. These last three merchants used as models a host of the young ladies of the city, who added loveliness to beauty and interpreted as only youth and pleasing array can collaborate.

Each young lady had been presented with a catalog by the Danville Flower Shop, and there was a delightful variety in the corsages, many different kinds of flowers and varied arrangement being used by the florist.

There was also a musical program which added to the effect of the show. Miss Almy and Miss Flossy Adams both contributed to the entertainment of the audience and both were accorded a number of times. Tonight the Fashion Show will be repeated, with Herman presenting many new creations.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

23 SERIES STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX SEDAN $1550

Hidden qualities largely determine the value and life of a closed car.

Beauty of line and finish and refinements are surface indications and important ones. But your satisfaction with a closed car depends to a great degree upon factors that are unseen—the in-built qualities that come from correct design, use of highest grade materials and careful workmanship.

The 23 Series Studebaker Light-Six Sedan is a quality car. It is built to endure—to give lasting satisfaction.

The Sedan body is substantially made. It will last for years and retain its beauty and comfort. Evidence of its hidden goodness lies in the fact that down under the paint and varnish, the pillars, roof rails and supporting members are made from specially selected ash. Good ash is expensive but Studebaker uses it because it best combines the proper strength and weight.

Four wide-opening doors make it easy for all passengers to get in or out without inconvenience to each other. A high-grade heater affords summer warmth on cold, damp days. The wide windows give broad vision in every direction.

When you buy a Light-Six Sedan you are really accepting the judgment of 100,000 owners who have found the Light-Six chassis so satisfactory.

Studebaker quality is traditional.

Calvi Thought "Mad" When He Told of Troth

MILAN, March 16.—Friends and fellow officers of Count Calvi di Bergolo, prospective bridegroom of Princess Juliano, firmly believed that the count was insane, when, due to frequent leaves of absence previously granted, his superiors at first refused to permit him to go to Rome for the official announcement of the betrothal until he divulged his secret, according to an apparently authentic story that is now going the rounds.

The future husband of the princess is a captain in the army and is subject to the usual military rules. Therefore, when he was continually asking for leave, and going off to Rome or to San Rossore, near Pisa, where the royal family spend some part of each year, his conduct began to be disturbed.

Finally the captain received an invitation from the princess to come to Rome for the official ceremony of the betrothal, as she had succeeded in obtaining the consent of her family.

On the strength of this Count Calvi di Bergolo went at once to his colonel, begging that he might go immediately to Rome in a matter of the utmost importance. His request was refused.

Undunted, the count remarked: "I am very sorry, Signor colonel, but even if you do not grant me the permission I must go just the same."

"To which came the answer: 'And I, on my part, shall be obliged to place you under arrest!'"

The count, realizing that he could not explain his position, kept on insisting. The colonel interrupted him impatiently:

"What urgent affair can there really be which forces you to ask for this leave?"

"Well," answered the count, after a moment's reflection, "will you not as to a superior officer now, but as to another gentleman, I know that you will keep the matter a secret. Tomorrow I am to be betrothed to the Princess Juliano of Savoy."

This speech overpowered the colonel, and the captain took his way directly to the station. The colonel was convinced that his subordinate officer had gone suddenly insane. He summoned several other officers, told them and the general opinion was that sudden insanity had seized their poor friend.

The count first went to Turin, and it was proposed to stop him there by telegram. Then a way was decided to inform his father and have the count placed under restraint.

As it happened, the only people who knew the true state of affairs were the parents of the count, and when they were told of the engagement, they were at the same time the newspapers gave out the news of the engagement.

In marrying outside of a royal family, the Princess Juliano, later in the day, as several other ladies of the House of Savoy have done. There have been marriages with the princely family of the Colonna and with other members of patrician families.

Charles de Rohan in 1741, and the daughters of Prince Luigi Vittorio of Savoy Carignano married, respectively, Prince Giovanni Doria Pamphili, and the Prince Lamballe. The latter fell a victim to the French Revolution.

The youngest sister of this family was one of those who contracted a marriage with the Colonna, and she died a life of great brilliancy at Rome and Naples.

Saunders Ruling On Co-op. Tobacco Fully Set Forth

State Auditor's Opinion, Concurred in by Saunders Given in Correspondence With Commissioner of Revenue.

The attitude of Attorney General John F. Saunders on the question of levying State taxes on tobacco held by the Co-operative Marketing Association is fully expressed in correspondence which has recently passed between Pryor C. Ragland, commissioner of the revenue of Danville and C. Lee Moore, State auditor of public accounts.

Brief reference was made a few days ago to this ruling concurred in by the attorney general, the sense of which is that the tobacco held by the "pool" is exempt from State tax, although, of course, the real estate owned by the association is subject to tax.

Mr. Ragland many months ago requested that the lottery point would be to be stayed under the question of the commissioner's of revenue started the work of assessing property and he wrote as early as May, 1922 to the auditor of public accounts asking him for an opinion in order that he could be guided. The State auditor replied at that time saying that as the matter was one which would require very careful consideration he would let Mr. Ragland know when he had reached a decision. Many months passed and no opinion was given.

On January 16th Mr. Ragland again wrote to Mr. Moore and reminded him of the open question pointing out that the time was approaching when the question would have to be met and decided at the same time that the whole question hinged on whether or not tobacco pooled could be regarded as still in the hands of the producer.

It was in answer to this last letter that Mr. Moore sent to Mr. Ragland the copy of a letter he had written to Messrs. Cardwell and Cardwell of Richmond attorneys representing the Co-operative Association, who had also asked for some expression on this tax question. The ruling on this matter which exempts "co-ops" tobacco and contained in the letter to the form of attorneys is as follows:

"This association is not subject to a State merchant's license tax because it buys nothing as a business being to sell tobacco placed with it for sale, nor is this association subject to any other State license tax because not engaged in any business upon which the State imposes a license tax.

The remaining question to be passed on is whether the property (tobacco) in the possession of and under the control of this association is subject to the taxation imposed by the law of this State upon capital or other property, real and personal. This association, if it owns real estate is subject to the State and local tax on real estate. The personal property of this association consists solely of tobacco, the tobacco being placed with it by producers who have not individually parted with their property except conditionally to the association of which each and every producer is a member and there can be no member of the association other than a producer.

"From time immemorial the law has expressly exempted from taxation such tobacco and other agricultural productions in the hands of the producer, of the same, and has expressly provided for the taxation of grain, tobacco and other agricultural products in the hands of possession, legal or constructive, of a purchaser. It is therefore my opinion that the tobacco of the producers is in their possession, as they compose and constitute the association, their own selling agency the business of which is confined to the selling of the tobacco of the producers only, they, the producers being the only members of the association. The intent of the General assembly of Virginia not to tax the property so held or the business so conducted is in my opinion conclusively and expressly indicated by the act of February 18th, 1923 in which act the General Assembly judging from the terms employed therein exhaustively considered the question before it and specifically and at length wrote into the law the privileges conferred in the minutest detail.

A footnote to this opinion over the attorney general's signature says: "I have examined into the question of taxation of the Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Marketing Association and am of the opinion that the conclusion reached by the auditor of public accounts as set out in the foregoing letter is in accordance with the law and I fully concur in the views expressed."

After digesting this opinion, Mr. Ragland wrote a further letter to Mr. Moore in which he took issue with his construction of the law but at the same time stating that he would govern his action according to the terms of the opinion.

"Permit me to say," Mr. Ragland wrote "that in my opinion this construction of the law will give you a great deal of trouble in the future. So far as the present year is concerned my understanding is that practically all the tobacco stored with the Tobacco Growers Association passed out of their hands and into the hands of dealers and manufacturers prior to the first day of February but this year I think it is unusual in that respect and in years to come when practically all the tobacco in Virginia is handled by the Tobacco Growers Association and is not disposed of before the first of February we can reach a time when there will be a tremendous loss in taxes to the state."

Good Morning Judge!

Josephine Harrison, colored was this morning given a hearing in the police court on a charge of threatening to kill Adolphus Harper, also colored and was fined six dollars and costs and put under a recognized bond of $100 for her good behavior towards Harper and all other persons, for 12 months. Harper testified that everywhere he went yesterday his friends told him of threats on his life alleged to have been made by the negro. These witnesses testified to the same effect in court this morning. Harper gave no reasons for the attitude of the negro against him. Josephine denied that she had threatened his life, although admitting that she told several that she was looking for him to straighten out a matter. She claimed that Harper had been "talking about" her and that she sought to see him and ascertain what it was about.

Agne Banks, colored, noted an appeal on a decision of the mayor dismissing an assault warrant put making him pay the costs which was $5.45. No appeal could be noted on such a small amount and Banks then fined ten dollars and costs so that he might take the case to the upper court. Banks was alleged to have assaulted his wife. He denied the charge and the negro declined to testify against him.

A warrant against Martha Bruce, colored, charging her with creating a disturbance by the use of threatening language to Lillian Martin, also colored, was dismissed at costs which was $2.25.

Difficulties between Mrs. Mary Williams and P. J. Exum, a boarder at her house, were aired at a private hearing. Disagreement over loans of money, rent, coal and various other things, are alleged to have led up to the disturbance. Mrs. Williams charged Exum with creating a disturbance at her home on Second street by the use of threatening and profane language to her. The hearing, however, resulted in both being put under a recognized bond of $20 for their good behavior towards each other for six months.

Mrs. Buchanan is Held For Action By Grand Jury

BY GEORGE H. MANNING
(Special Correspondent of Danville Bee)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 17.—Mrs. Margaret Beverly Buchanan, former secretary to Congressman Kendall of Pennsylvania, whose claim to relationship with the old Virginia Buchanan family, was repudiated by Lieutenant-Governor B. F. Buchanan, was held for the grand jury on a charge of forging the endorsements on Veterans' Bureau checks following a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner George H. MacDonald.

Only two witnesses were called by the prosecution in making out its case for holding the woman. M. P. McInerney, Chief of the Special Investigation Section of the Veterans' Bureau and Mrs. Martha Warfield, formerly employed by Mrs. Buchanan as a cook, whose name is alleged to have been forged to the checks, made out its case.

According to their testimony, Mrs. Buchanan assisted the colored woman in getting her claim for compensation for the death of her son through the Veterans' Bureau. Three checks, totalling $1,000, were presented as evidence. The checks were drawn to the order of Martha Warfield, and addressed to the office of Congressman Kendall.

Testimony brought out that the negro had never seen the checks, although her name was endorsed on them. She said the handwriting was not her own. In the presence of McInerney, Mrs. Buchanan is said to have turned over to Mrs. Warfield $1,000, the amount of two of the checks. The woman said she had never received any money from the third check, which was for $500. This payment of $1,000 was made after the Veterans' Bureau officials had accused Mrs. Buchanan of forging the name of Martha Warfield and had obtained a confession from her, according to the testimony.

The money which Mrs. Buchanan turned over to the colored woman, upon demand of the Veterans' Bureau, was obtained on a check drawn by her on a Cashier, Penna. bank, and cashed at the Capitol City cash, which was cashed after Congressman Roy Fitzgerald of Ohio had endorsed it. The bank returned the check unpaid and Fitzgerald had to make good the $1,000.

The authorities also ascertained that two notes for $500, bearing the name of Congressman Kendall, had been discounted at another Pennsylvania bank. When the bank called upon Congressman Kendall for payment he denied he had any knowledge of the notes and charged his secretary, Mrs. Buchanan, with forging his signature.

Her right to bear the name of Buchanan is questioned by the authorities who claim that she lived for a time with a young musician named Buchanan and that after his death she took up his name. She claims to have married Buchanan in Alexandria, Va., but there is no record of such a marriage ever having been performed.

Her claim to relationship has been positively repudiated by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Buchanan, who disclaims any acquaintance with her. She had claimed to be Mr. Buchanan's sister-in-law.

Mayor Burton of Stuart Resigns E. C. Smith Named

Word received here from Stuart, county seat of Patrick county is that E. P. Burton for the past three years mayor of the town has resigned his position and that E. C. Smith has been elected mayor by the council temporarily.

Mr. Burton is understood to have resigned because of the pressure of his private affairs which left him insufficient time to attend to the mayor's duties properly. The council asked him to reconsider his resignation but this he declined to do and it was accepted with reluctance.

Judge Clement, however, is reported to have instructed the grand jury to make an inquiry into the county jail from which several prisoners recently escaped. The grand jury's findings were that the jail had purchased opening stocks had bricked up the opening made by the prisoners who escaped and reported that the jail was in "very good condition" and that "through some carelessness or oversight" of the jailer the men got away.

LABOR REPORT IN HAWAII ANGERS JAPS

HONOLULU, T. H., Mar. 16.—The report of the federal commission, which recently investigated labor conditions in the Hawaiian Islands in connection with the resolution pending in Congress to permit the importation of otherwise ineligible aliens to counteract an alleged labor shortage, was subjected to considerable criticism by the Japanese language newspapers here, according to translations on file with the territorial attorney general.

The report said the commissioners had found no labor shortage in the pineapple or sugar industries, but that a shortage was apparent in the rice industry. The Japanese newspapers objected, particularly in their editorials, to the paragraph of the report which stated that attention should be paid "especially to the menace of alien domination and that the present policy of parental adoption and the importation of 'picture brides' by the Japanese should be stopped because these practices have created a standing army of alien laborers." The report also stated that the Japanese should be encouraged to supply to such an extent that it will soon overwhelm the territory, numerically, politically and commercially. The menace from a military standpoint can be verified fully by referring to the records of related federal departments. If these islands are to remain American, an assured control of political, industrial, commercial, social and educational life must also be American.

The Nippon Jiji expressed regret that the members of the labor commission have swallowed the wicked propaganda of the interests and have harped on the alleged Japanese menace in their report. We did not believe that the commission which investigated the actual conditions would make such a report. This is another instance of the result of reckless propaganda, of men who care only for the end and not for the means.

The Hawaii Hochi said that the report will "please the capitalists, and it impresses one that Chinese coolies will be imported. Like the Nippon Jiji it believes that the commission completely shattered the writer's strong faith in the labor leaders who, he believed, would never misrepresent the truth. In all classes there are honest and dishonest men. But the writer did not believe this applied to the leaders of labor organizations, which style themselves the creators of a new age."

The Hawaii Shimpo attacked the declaration of the report that the Japanese control the business of the islands as well as most of the small stores of Hawaii.

"It was pointed out that there are 177 Japanese mercantile stores as compared with 56 American, and 29 Japanese restaurants against 12 American," the Shimpo said. "How ridiculous to compare an American firm like American Factors, or T. H. Davies and Co., with a small Japanese store, or to compare the new Hawaii or Princess theaters with the Asahi or Park Japanese theaters."

"The report, after all, is nothing but misrepresentation, as far as the Japanese problem is concerned."

"Laborers in Hawaii can rest assured that the organizations on the mainland will not sanction a measure which will be of great advantage or benefit to the capitalists. The so-called Japanese menace is most annoying to the Japanese laborers here, but since the report has no material effect on the Congress, they should not be restless and should keep up their movement for higher wages."

Fuses

IS THE ELECTRICAL SYSTEM of your car protected by fuses or by a circuit breaker? If the former, where are the fuses located, and have you spare ones? If you have any spares, where are they and are they of the right carrying capacity? It may be that a fuse will never blow on your car, but on the other hand, one may let go the next time you are out. As a car gets older and its wiring begins to deteriorate the likelihood of short circuits increases. In case a fuse does blow, do not immediately replace it with your spare, as this will probably burn out, too, and leave you fuseless. Instead, momentarily short-circuit with the pliers the fuse clips, from which the dead fuse has been removed. If there is a flash there the short circuit is still on. Identify the circuit which is in trouble and trace it, looking for a point where the insulation is chafed through. Perhaps when the fuse clips are momentarily short-circuited you will notice a puff of smoke or a spark at some point and this will indicate the seat of the trouble. By forcing the wire away from the point where current is escaping and winding it with tape or even string, the trouble can be temporarily removed, and when there is no flash obtainable at the fuse clips, the spare fuse can be inserted therein.

WORN BEARINGS RUIN GENERATOR ARMATURE

A. D. S. writes: The generator of my car gave out recently and they told me that it was ruined by the moving part rubbing on the metal inside. I had done nothing to it to cause this to happen and it seems to me the generator must have been a defective one. What is your opinion?

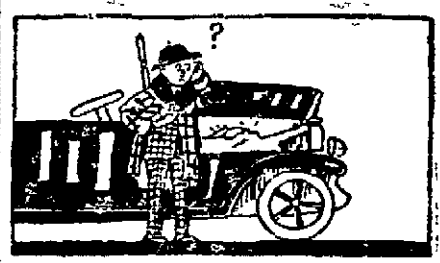

Answer: The generator armature—the rotating part—has to run extremely close to the field magnet poles in order to secure efficiency and this requires that the armature shaft bearings be very accurately fitted. If even a very little play develops in them, through wear, the shaft will drop enough to bring the armature and poles into contact and this usually results in the metal of the armature core being forced into the slots, which grounds the armature windings and ruins them. With good lubrication the bearings should not wear enough to lead to this accident for a great many thousand miles, but if the bearings are allowed to run dry, they may do so very soon. We fear that the manufacturers would claim that you had failed to keep this generator oiled.

Questions of general interest to the motorist will be answered by Mr. Clough in this column, space permitting. If an immediate answer is desired, enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope.

OBJECT OF ADVANCING THE SPARK

E. W. S. asks: What is the object of advancing and retarding the spark? Is it to compensate for changes in engine speed?

Answer: Yes, mainly. The charge should be fully ignited and the full working pressure developed, just as the piston has reached the top of its stroke. If pressure has developed before this time, there will be a tendency to turn the engine backward, with loss of power, severe stresses on the moving parts and knockings. If it is developed later than this time, part of the useful effect of the charge will be lost. It takes some time after the spark for the charge to reach its full pressure and ignition thus must occur before the piston is at top stroke or else it will be going down before full pressure is acting. At low speed the piston moves but a little ways while the charge is getting fully ignited, but at high speed it moves a very considerable distance and thus the spark must occur earlier in the stroke when an engine is running fast than when it is running slowly, in order that full pressure may be developed just at the right instant in the stroke.

GERMANY ON SPENDING JAG

BY BOB DORMAN
(Special to The Bee)

DUSSELDORF, Germany (Territory of the Ruhr), March 17.—"Germany was once the world's most economical nation. Today she is the world's greatest spender."

I had asked Herr President Doctor Grutzner of the registering of Düsseldorf (corresponding to the governor of an American state) about Germany's apparent prosperity.

"Everywhere in the Ruhr district is evidence of such times. New great factories are rising on every side. Cabarets and cafes are crowded. Money and wine both pour out like water."

"Formerly the savings bank was a German institution, a part of every German's daily life. Today, the bank's principal function is money changing."

"What is the use of saving money? The 2,000 marks you saved today will buy you a shirt. Next week, 4,000 marks would be needed to buy the same shirt. That is why Germany is spending madly."

"The better to buy while the money is in anything that looks like a 'wonderful wealth.' The foolish throw it away on wine, women, etc. For they are prone to be foolish as those who hoard the mark."

"For when a financial crash comes, as I think it will come, the man with paper marks will be left holding the sack."

"That is our German prosperity! Fantastic purchase and a more antic state. A country gone mad in its time of passing the mark."

"But I believe that native German industry and thrift can overcome our troubles, if given a chance. An advertisement of reparations that will set a fire that will burn for years."

Miami has done its part in aiding the President in obtaining the rest that he needs. There has been a noticeable absence of crowds here as compared with some of the other places along the east coast that the President has visited. When the chief executive visits here tomorrow, it is safe to say that less than one out of a hundred of the 50,000 or more inhabitants of Miami will have seen him during his stay here.

The flying trip down to Colcolec from which the president returned at 2 o'clock this afternoon was productive of rest for him even though it produced no sleep. High winds which lashed the ocean into boiling white caps prevented the presidential fishing party from even dropping a line.

O'DOWD KNOCKED OUT.

(By The Associated Press)
ST. PAUL, Minn., Mar. 16.—Jack Malone, of St. Paul, recognized in Ohio as the middleweight champion, knocked out Mike O'Dowd, also of St. Paul, former world's champion in lightweight, and still recognized as such in New York State, in less than one minute of fighting in their scheduled fight round-robin bout here tonight.

DR. GRUTZNER

REST HAS MARKED VACATION OF PRES. HARDING IN FLORIDA

(By The Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., March 16.—President Harding will conclude his stay at Miami Beach tomorrow without having taken any part in any of the business and without deviating in any way from the three-R's of his Florida vacation program—rest, relaxation and recreation.

Prior to his arrival at Miami Beach Wednesday it had been thought that the vacation might be broken in upon during the stay because of the number of political leaders and public men who were expected to visit him.

Several of these he indicated they would like to confer with the president were seen by some of the Christian who others including William Jennings Bryan have failed during his stay in Florida is to obtain a new rest.

Mr. Bryan, who now is a full-fledged member of Miami, called late today at President Harding's residence where the president and Mrs. Harding after returning from a morning fishing trip.

The former secretary of the United States, who had no part to play in the president's rest, Mr. Harding was going down at the time, for he knew of the call. Mr. Bryan previously had left his card at the hotel apartment of Attorney General Daugherty and to newspapermen said tonight.

TO FILE BILLS OF INFORMATION IN KLAN CASES

(By The Associated Press)
NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 16.—The present intention of the state of Louisiana to file bills of information and proceed with the prosecution of those whom it has evidence in the Morehouse Parish Ku Klux Klan outrages, for the announcement of Attorney General A. V. Coco on his arrival here today from Baton Rouge where he went on March 6 and presented to the grand jury the testimonies obtained at the open hearing there in January concerning masked band activities in that parish. The jury reported yesterday to Judge Fred M. Odom that the evidence submitted was not sufficient to find indictments against any particular individual.

"We are extremely disappointed because I believed and was confident that the state had made out good cases," the attorney declared. "But this action by the grand jury does not end the matter by any means."

Mr. Coco said he would issue no further statement until after a conference here probably next Tuesday with his assistants and State Senator H. E. Warren, Shreveport, special counsel for the state in the case, to determine their future course.

Governor John M. Parker when reached by telephone at Baton Rouge declined to have anything to say concerning the report of the grand jury or future action contemplated by the state's legal forces.

"Attorney General Coco will make any statements that are to be made," he said. It was generally believed that any trial of the masked band cases resulting from information filed by the state authorities would be shifted out of Morehouse Parish on a change of venue to one of the nearby judicial districts, possibly Monroe in Ouachita Parish.

"JACK OF ROYAL MOUNTED" COMES OUT VICTORIOUS

BY JEFF BUCKLEY
(Copyright, Mrs. H. T. Register)
WINNIPEG, March 16.—After a long battle that has been punctuated with as many cheers and hisses and his adventures in the films, "Jack of the Royal Mounted" today has won the villain and come out victorious to shouts that echoed from the parliamentary benches in Ottawa to the banks of the Yukon and the frozen beaches of Hudson Bay. Even in this city there is not dearth of applause despite the fact that it is the home of the villain in the piece, for it is the labor representative from Winnipeg who has played the role. Meanwhile the villain, in the shape of the labor representatives and some liberals, have made some dastardly slurs on the hero's reputation. Instead of riding for beauty and honor in distress, Jack and country in emergency, Jack has been accused of doffing spurs and six shooter to look through key holes where ignorant if not innocent reds gather and even sneaking into respectable labor meetings and trying to sell forbidden literature in order to "frame" unwary citizens.

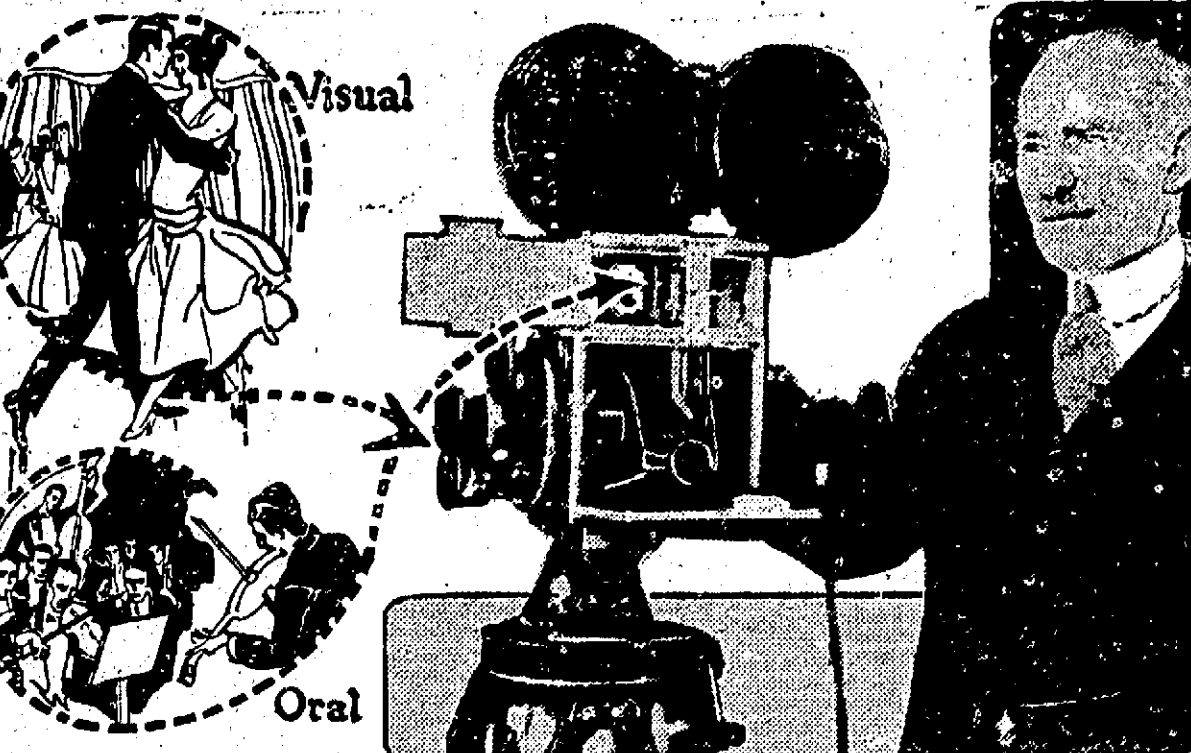

With what might be interpreted as a villainous sneer, the Winnipeg member suggested that if the renowned police have to listen in on private meetings, they might better have a present at the directors meeting of a certain financial institution which recently went up in smoke.

The mounted police have a right under the criminal law to seize property of organizations considered conspicuous. The defamers of police say that some of the property thus seized in the King's name has apparently been held in the Jack's. This has been denied, but one gentleman is still said to be looking for a large and valuable library which disappeared like a maverick in twilight.

However these accusations have been satisfactorily answered and it appears that Jack will be restored to the saddle, with boots, spurs, riding crop, six shooter and all. Good news indeed does a good job, the northwest believes and to prove it makes a comparison between his Alaskan domain and conditions on the Yankee side of that boundary.

—Mr. and Mrs. Green Penn have returned from a visit to Madison, N. C.

Inventor Puts Music Into Film

DR. LEE DE FOREST AND HIS MOTION PICTURE CAMERA WITH PHONOFILM ATTACHMENT. WHICH IS SHOWN IN UPPER CHAMBER (WITH DOOR THROWN BACK) WHERE VOVAL AND MUSICAL SOUND WAVES ARE PHOTOGRAPHED ALONG WITH THE SAME FILM UPON WHICH IN THE LOWER CHAMBER IS PHOTOGRAPHED THE VISUAL.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Talking movies, perfected by Dr. Lee De Forest, after years of experiments by many inventors, are not going to revolutionize photoplays.

"The public doesn't want the actors to talk in film dramas," he says. "They want pantomime in movies and they will always have it. What my new invention will do is not to change the movies as they are, but to open a new field of entertainment and education."

This disclaimer of reputed designs to vocalize photoplays was made by Dr. De Forest, in an interview with NEA Service, at the first demonstration of his visual-vocal film to be made in this country. For four years he has been working abroad on the "phonofilm," which he will show before the New York Electrical Society late in March, and publicly at a Broadway theater in April of May.

"The silent drama cannot be improved by adding the voice," he said. "Movie actors are either untrained in dramatic speaking or are wholly incapable of it. In the early days the motion picture tried merely to photograph the ordinary drama of the stage, but it was a dismal failure until a new and novel type of drama was created to fit.

"Now comes the phonofilm," with sound photographed on the same film that carries the picture. Musical and vocal sounds are reproduced perfectly synchronized. However, it will not affect the photoplay of pantomime, except to develop a new field in which scenario writers may work acoustical effects as can be successfully brought out."

Dr. De Forest exhibited sample films, showing dancers and an orchestra, the music sounding as if it came directly from the screen.

"That is the field for the present," he said. "Movie audiences will hear as well as see operettas, symphony orchestras, popular bands, concert singers, famous virtuosos, public men, dancers, and others who heretofore have been available in person only to the few, and to the many only by means of phonograph records, as far as voice is concerned."

"Only in such instances is the present-day motion picture lacking. Photoplays as they now exist perhaps might be improved by the actual graph the ordinary drama of the stage, but it was a dismal failure un-sentences spoken during an otherwise silent drama as a means of gripping the attention, but certainly not by continuous conversation on the part of the characters. Photoplays must be written to fit the phonofilm, but the phonofilm will not be thrust ruthlessly upon the pantomime of photoplays."

Pictures for the De Forest film are taken in a soundproof studio by an ordinary motion picture camera, altered by the addition of a "voice box" in which sound waves have been translated into electric currents and thence into light waves. Reproduction is by an ordinary projection machine, which translates the light waves back again into sound waves, which are amplified and produced through invisible horns under the screen.

Sound is photographed on the edge of the film at a distance 10 inches further along the film strip from the point where the picture is photographed, but the reproducing device is the same distance apart in the projection machine, causing synchronization.

JERSEY CANAL WAS ADVANCED

(By The Associated Press)
TRENTON, N. J., March 16.—The proposed New Jersey Ship Canal, the final link on the Atlantic-Island waterways connecting Florida and New England, was advanced one step nearer to reality with the passage today by the senate of the House bill giving to the board of navigation and commerce $875,000 received by the state from the Lehigh Valley Railroad, in connection with the abandonment of Morris Canal. Construction of the canal has been promised by the federal government after the state has acquired the right of way.

MRS. COFFMAN ILL SEVEN YEARS

Saved from an Operation by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sidell, Ill.—"I was a nervous wreck. I was suffering from a pain in my left side, which was almost unbearable, and I could not even let the bed clothes rest on my body at night. I had been sick for seven years, but not so bad until the last eighteen months, and had become so run-down that I cared for nobody, and would rather have died than lived. I couldn't do my work without help, and the doctors told me that an operation was all there was left. I would not consent to that, so my husband brought me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begged me to take it. I have taken fourteen bottles of it and I feel ten years younger. Life is full of hope. I do all my housework and had a large garden this year. I never will be without the Vegetable Compound in the house, and when my two little girls reach womanhood I intend to teach them to take it. I am never too busy to tell some suffering sister of my help, and you can use my name and letter to spread the good news of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines."—Mrs. Ida M. Coffman, R. B. 2, Sidell, Ill.

Fellowship of Prayer

Daily Lenten Bible reading and meditation prepared for Commission on Evangelism of Federal Council of Churches.

SATURDAY Fellowship Through Faith

"Have faith in God. Mark 11:22. Read Mark 11:20-23. Faith is the stone upon which all other stones are to rest."

MEDITATION: Our prayer of faith will be answered if we are in right relations with God and with others. The command of God "Will which flows from God to his children will be blocked if we have unforgiving hearts, one for another. Do I have 'ought against any one?'"

HYMN: "Faith looks up to thee. Thou Lamb of Calvary, Savior Divine!"

PRAYER: Lord Jesus Christ, who hast commanded us not to return evil for evil, but to pray for those who hate us: enable us by thy blessed example to offer a true prayer for those who hate us.

SATURDAY, MARCH 18, 1923.

CHILDREN OR TAXES?

The people of Danville have a matter of grave importance before them at the present: THE EDUCATION OF THE CHILDREN OF TODAY AND THOSE OF THE NEXT GENERATION. We do not know the amount of additional taxes needed but we do know that the Danville school facilities are not what they should be. If the plans of the school board will give the city what is required and an increase in taxes of twenty cents is necessary for the carrying out of these plans then the taxes should be raised this amount.

The people of Danville should not sit idly while a small group of citizens, composed mostly of those who own large amounts of real estate in the city are fighting the increase in taxes which means fighting to deny Danville having the schools it should have or otherwise trying to deny our children the opportunity for an education they are entitled to.

Has it ever occurred to the people of Danville that when any movement is started to improve the conditions of our city there is always a fight by a small group of property owners who have considerable property with few exceptions have no children that would be benefitted. It appears to us that the action of these few citizens is merely selfishness.

If the children of Danville are not given the best schooling possible there is a responsibility that rests on the shoulders of every citizen of our city. When we are born into this world there are certain responsibilities that rest upon all in properly providing for the generation to follow, and we believe that the proper schooling of children is the most important. Schooling has more to do with shaping the character and moulding the moral side of men and women, than anything else. With the unrest that exists throughout the world, it is very important that as many persons as possible be given the advantage of an education. When radical movements start if it was not for the educated people, these movements would soon sweep the whole world. It is up to the people of Danville to decide and to decide immediately if they desire to sacrifice important advantages for their children merely for the sake of a few dollars. Citizens should not tolerate the selfish action of a few who try to block the progress of a city the size of ours.

Scoop's Colyum

DRAKES BRANCH, March 17.—(Grapevine Wireless).—St. Patrick's Day and Irish stew! Last day for the Ground Hog to stay in his hole! Plant early potatoes on Monday weather permitting. It won't be long 'til springtime and apple blossoms. Open season for hog jowl and turnip salad. Keep up with the procession, Junius! Watch your step.

What we need most is co-operation! When Joe Turner and Cyclone Peters faced each other on the mat at the City Hall last night they were competitors. They knew it, too. When two contractors submit bids for erecting the same building they are competitors, usually.

But, when the makers of Old Crow vied for sales with the makers of Old Taylor they thought they were competitors. That was a mistake. Their real competitor was a proposition to pass an amendment to the Constitution now known as the Eighteenth Amendment.

How was the manufacturer of petticoats ten years ago to know that by 1922 most women would not be wearing petticoats? The lively stable that became a garage knew what to do about competition. The real competitor, therefore, is the person or thing that gives your customers something they want more than the thing you have to offer them. BEAT THE OTHER FELLOW TO IT. That's the answer. Co-operate with advanced ideas and develop foresight—hindsight always takes care of itself.

Use the accelerator in climbing a hill!

A RAISE IN A CAKE OF YEAST

Farmer Al Falta made some brew. His favorite hen imbued it, too. And then she laid a few eggs. Had strange adventures in the sky. Met with a fierce three-headed cat. Danced with some mermaids after that. Then sobered up and said, "By gum That home brew makes you travel some!"

An Alternative!

An old lady describing the symptoms of her ailment to a noted but eccentric physician, said, "The trouble, doctor, is that I can neither lay nor set."

Thereupon the good old doctor answered her thus: "Then, madam, I would respectfully suggest that property of your resting."

I lead a fast life, said the permanent color as it splashed into the tub and died.

Coming, Maybe!

Yes, there will be lasting peace. With its gleaming glory—When the interests shall cease—To be predatory.

Home Brew. A rubber band with snappy tunes. Jazzed to death some old-time croons. The guttering of the gutter snipes. Drown'd out the fire of organ pipes.

A pancake panned the frying pan. An egg broke and also ran; A pop-over it had been framed. The gold mine pumped for it had been claimed.

The leaves of all the trees had left. The grass, cut up, said "I'm cleft." A razor-calm shaved an oyster raw. And that ain't half of all I saw.

Cleopatra—"You're an easy Mark Anthony." David—"The bigger they are the harder they fall." So this is Paris. Columbus—"I don't know where I'm going but I'm on my way."

Falome (think of the dance)—"Let's have some of the winkle and wobble. Xerxes—"Keep the home fires burning. Nothin' beats 'em." Solomon—"I love the ladies." Methusalem—"The first hundred years are the hardest."

"Four sardines for every man, woman and child in the United States" have been packed by Los Angeles cannery this year. It is "announced." If any child, or even any man or woman, find that four are not enough, he can have eight, so far as Ed Oakes is concerned.

Bride, 15, Loves Second Husband

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Mar. 16.—At the tender age of 13 Carmeline Elliott became a happy bride. One year of matrimonial bliss followed, she said, and then—divorce. At this time Carmeline promised her mother, Mrs. Betty Elliott, that she would not take another matrimonial leap until she was 18.

But Carmeline could not resist the amorous advances of Luther Duddar, a blond-haired youth of 19. She capitulated, and they were wed. Carmeline was a bride again at the "tripe" age of 15.

Officials of the What-So-Ever Community Home, a local welfare organization, were instrumental in seeing that the child-wife was brought before Judge E. E. Porterfield, of the Juvenile Court. It was largely due to their efforts that Carmeline was able to secure a divorce from John Burch, her first husband, "two years ago. Attaches of the organization requested the court to annul the second marriage, asserting Carmeline was a mere child and much too young to be a wife."

Judge Porterfield asked the girl if she wanted the marriage annulled. "I should say not!" she replied. "I love my husband."

Porterfield asseverated.

WIFE ASKS TO DIVORCE JAP OF LOWEST CASTE

RENO, Nev., March 15.—Discovery that her husband belonged to the "Eta" caste, said to be one of the lowest racial divisions of the Japanese, ruined the romance of Mrs. Chiye Shimada according to her divorce complaint.

Mrs. Shimada charges her husband kept his caste a secret until three days after their marriage in Los Angeles September 16, 1920. The "Eta" caste is one of the lowest of hereditary beggars. When she found out the true status of Shimada alleges that her husband threatened to kill her if she divulged it.

LETTER FROM LESLIE HAMILTON TO BEATRICE GRIMSHAW. BRAW.

DEAREST BEE: I got your letter this morning. It is sweet of you to write to me, for I surely intended to tell you about my engagement to the most splendid man in all the world. Yes, Bee dear, I've met him, and best of all, he loves me and has asked me to be his wife.

You remember how many times I told you that my friend would be over six feet tall, well proportioned, with brown eyes, and brown hair, a whimsical smile and dazzling white teeth.

Well, Bee, darling, that is John Alden. Present, the man I'm going to marry. When I went to Albany, I, of course, expected my visit with Nancy would be full of the usual dances, teas, motor rides and flirtations, but the second day I was introduced to John and then I was all off as far as I was concerned. It was very strange, for I had no more idea at that time that I would be married in a month, than that I would be buried.

You ask me about Karl Whitney. Bee dear, I'm telling you, Karl is a handsome fellow, but as I am marrying a comparatively poor man, I am not going to be happy.

Of course dad might give me some money, at least my dress allowance, but being an American father he insists that he shall be free of all financial responsibility the moment I am married. However, when you see Jack, Bee, you will know that he is worth living on bread and cheese and she made dad promise to buy a new car for me.

Mother insists upon a big wedding, and she made dad promise to buy a new car for me. The bridemaids' gowns. You'll have to come home to have yours made. You will look lovely in a pink chiffon gown with a gray picture hat and an immense bouquet of roses. Brunner roses tied to a shepherd's crook. Each two of the other girls will be dressed in different shades of orchid and

Will be with you on Saturday night. Make arrangements come over to my house and tell me all about it. Am worried about Karl. Don't think she is beginning married life right.

THE WINDS OF DEATH

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Vendetta begins between MICHAEL SAYERS, noted criminal, and SIR NORMAN GREYES, once of Scotland Yard, wiser Sayers beautiful housemaid.

JANET takes her from Sir Norman by shooting dead an officer sent to arrest him. Janet becomes convinced that his enemy, Sayers, is in many exploits Michael escapes arrest by taking desperate chances.

While Sir Norman is living at his country house, Greaves Manor, he is shot at from ambush and narrowly escapes death. After a series of "suspicious" accidents, a Greyes is convinced that his enemy, Sayers, is again in England. The police appeal to Sir Norman to help him to catch his enemy, whom they believe is working at the head of a dangerous gang.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

"Personally," was the confident reply, "I don't think there is the slightest doubt but that he is the man who has passed at different times as Thomas Pugsley, James Stanfield and originally Michael Sayers. He has vanished from the face of the earth, so far as New York police have ascertained; but they obtained possession of an uncompleted letter which he must have been typing at the time of the raid. The first page he probably destroyed or took with him. The second page refers to you. Here is a copy."

Rimington withdrew from his pocketbook a halfsheet of paper and passed it to me. I read it slowly, word for word:

"Things here have come to their natural end. The last fortnight has been productive, but there is danger in any further prosecution of our energies. There is only one man who stands in the way of my return to London. You know well of whom I speak. I wait day by day for your news of him, and hope to hear of no more blunders. See that the woman you know of, too, is carefully watched. She may be as loyal as she seems, but there are moments when I have my doubts. If N. G. can be disposed of—"

"Interesting," I remarked, "very! To whom was the letter addressed?"

"To a firm of leather-brokers in Bermondsey," Rimington replied, "and it was written on the notepaper of a firm of hide-brokers in New York."

"The letter is from my friend, right enough," I decided. "There have been two attempts upon my life within the last two days, and I have just sent away a secretary who was keeping a careful note of my doings."

"I talked for an hour or more, and arrived without difficulty at a mutual understanding. Rimington undertook to send a good man down from Scotland Yard to make inquiries in the neighborhood, and he promised also to trace my late secretary's antecedents through the office from which she had come. In the meantime he begged me to return to London with him. The suggestion was not at first altogether attractive to me."

"I don't like being driven away from my own home," I grumbled. "Besides, there will be nothing for me to do in London at this time of the year."

"Greaves," he said earnestly, "listen to me: You can play golf round London, and get on with your book. You are far safer there than you would be in an unprotected neighborhood like this. But apart from that, altogether, we want you up there. This wave of crime in New York has ceased. Paris, too, is quieter. The Chief is profoundly impressed with the belief that it is because operations are being transferred to London."

"When do you want me to come?" I asked.

"Back with you tonight," he answered promptly.

"I READ THE HALFSHEET OF PAPER. READ IT SLOWLY. WORD FOR WORD. 'INTERESTING,' I REMARKED."

his sitting-room I saw a telephone on his table.

At Wivelcombe, a man with a motorcycle stood silent as we passed. He leaned forward as though to see the number of our car. In ten minutes he had passed us, his powerful engine making the night hideous with its unrelenting explosions. Across Salisbury Plain, as we drew near Stonehenge, a cruelly cold wind was blowing. We drank from a flask which I had brought, and wrapped ourselves up a little closer. At some crossroads, high up in the bleakest part, another car was waiting, its lights out, its appearance sinister. We passed it, however, at fifty miles an hour, and the man who was its sole occupant scarcely looked at us.

We passed through Amesbury, up the long rise to Andover, through Basingstoke, and settled down into a steady fifty miles an hour along wonderful roads. The moon was pale now, and there were signs of dawn; right ahead of us was a thin streak of silver in the clouds, slowly changing to a dull purple. Before we had realized it, we were in the outskirts of London, our pace gradually reduced, but still racing through the somber twilight.

At Islington, just as we had passed under the railway arch, I felt the brakes suddenly applied and thrust my head out of the window. We had come almost to a standstill, stopped by a stalwart policeman who, notebook in hand, had been talking to the occupant of a touring-car drawn up by the side of the road. He came up to the side of the road.

"Are you gentlemen going through to London?" he inquired.

We knew it would rain, for all the time.

"Y. W." Celebrates Its Membership Campaign Close

The annual membership banquet of the Young Woman's Christian Association last night was not merely a delightful affair in all its phases, but an impressive demonstration and manifestation of the important and efficient work that association is doing among the young women and girls of Danville. Incidentally it was a demonstration with many of the elements of spontaneity of the appreciation of the Y. W. by those for whose pleasure and benefit it was established. The earnestness and zeal of the young girls in the organization was strikingly in evidence, and the gentlemen present were impressed by it.

Perhaps the most important development in the various rapid-fire talks during the evening was a general recognition by the representative men present of the obligation of the community to provide a spacious and adequately equipped home for the Y. W., and the launching of an incipient movement to realize this specific purpose. Among other expressions was a purely voluntary one by Frank Talbot, one of the most influential and efficient men of Danville, that when a movement was inaugurated he would feel it both an honor and a privilege to be allowed to direct such a campaign. All who know him and realize what he has done in the leadership of other campaigns including the establishment of the Y. M. C. A. and in the various local movements of the last fifteen years know also that it is a burden and responsibility to put over such a large and important community undertaking, and that when he volunteers for such an effort he is profoundly impressed with the city's obligation and with the value of such an institution to the community. Last night's spontaneous response to such a movement will mean much to the Young Women's Christian Association and to Danville.

This was but an incident of the banquet, and one not embraced in the pre-arranged program, which included an excellent address by Mrs. Archibald D. Keen, president of the association, who presided gracefully and graciously as toastmistress; brief addresses by General Secretary E. G. Corwine of the Y. M. C. A.; Mrs. E. J. Hinchcliffe, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A.; and Henry B. Watkins, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. These were followed by short talks by Y. W. committee chairmen on the work of their several committees. During the gastronomic portion of the program, a bevy of Y. W. girls, who might have been selected for their beauty no less than their musical ability, entertained the diners with brief, snappy songs in which tribute was paid to the several speakers. These songs were all of the humorous and "punny" variety and were delivered with that vim and effectiveness which gave them "a punch," so to speak. Incidentally the bevy chorus evoked much applause and laughter whenever they chimed in.

The menu served began with chicken salad and included Smithfield ham, Shamrock peppers and cheese, pickles, hot buttered rolls, meringue glace, tea, coffee and chocolate. The centerpiece on the toastmistress' table was a big cluster of Easter lilies, while the tables were decorated with Shamrocks appropriate to the nearness of St. Patrick's Day, and so were the napkins in a woven and usually grey and artistic effect had been attained in the decorations and accessories. And the service was above criticism. Dr. T. A. Smoot of Main Street Methodist Church asked a blessing.

Mrs. Keen in her address took occasion to commend the city government and the movement inaugurated in this city for larger influence by the Christian element in the nation at large. She appealed to the Y. W. girls to aid in a movement to put Christ in the government of this city. Mrs. Keen, herself a member of the Board of School Trustees, was deprecating the attitude of some in attempting to defeat this movement for better schools. Her whole address was practical and timely and had a candor and directness about it which impressed her audience.

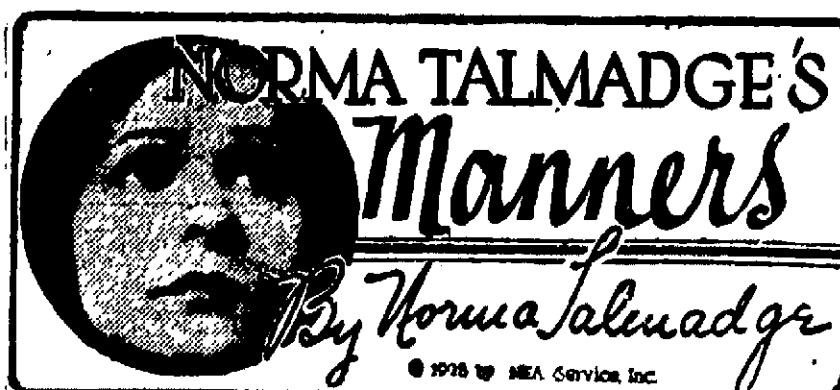

Mr. Corwine was particularly cordial in pledging the continued interest of the male association in the maintenance of the Y. W. and in closer co-operation between these cognate organizations.

Mrs. Hinchcliffe, who has a charming personality as well as the graces of speech, spoke briefly on "Our Best Gifts Opportunities, not Things," stressing the spiritual and helpful work of the organization and the field of service for the Y. W. here.

The membership recognition service was in the nature of a responsive reading in which Mrs. S. C. Cunningham, chairman of the membership committee led, and the audience read the responses. This had a spiritual appeal and was followed by the singing of "The Hymn of the Lights," by the members.

Mr. Watkins representing the Chamber of Commerce spoke in a very happy vein on "Everybody's Y. W. C. A." which he pledged the community interest in the organization and made an earnest appeal for larger co-operation in promoting the association's work.

The "High Spots Touched by Com-

DENTLEMEN and gentlewomen practice the theory that the servant is worthy of his hire. They pay for every service rendered. Tipping being in vogue, they tip—regardless of whether they approve the system. But the sensible ones tip with discrimination; they tip commensurate with the service rendered and with their means.

TIPPING

1: Ten per cent. is the rule for tipping waiters, barbers and hairdressers, except that in high-priced places one should never tip less than a quarter.

2: Thirty-five cents is a fair tip for a porter on a Pullman in which a person spends one night, and is earned, considering that he shines your boots.

3: A transient guest at a hotel tips every employee who renders service, from a dime up.

4: A permanent guest at a hotel may tip once a week, a dollar being enough for a woman to give a waiter, a dollar and a half for a man.

5: The house guest never tips any servant more than five dollars at the end of his stay.

IT'S BAD MANNERS for a male house guest to tip women servants, except his waitress, or to tip the hotel chambermaid, except for special service.

MONDAY: Etiquette of greetings.

Movement For Wage Increases Strengthening

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, Mar. 16.—The movement for a wage advance to textile operatives in New England, of whom there are 300,000, gathered strength today with formal demand by the Fall River Textile Council for an increase of 15 per cent. That center of 36,000 workers, employed in 111 cotton mills, now doubly committed to a wage raise, demand the United Textile Workers of America having asked a 25 per cent. increase there some weeks ago.

Although indications have been that other mill centers would allow on the issue of more pay to be fought out through a strike in Fall River, which both textile council and the United Textile Workers leaders have authority to declare, word came from Lawrence that the United Textile Workers membership there was ready to line up with Fall River for an ultimatum of a wage advance or strike. Lawrence employs some 32,000 persons on woolsens, worsteds and cottons.

The Textile Council of Fall River, in making its demand on the Manufacturers Association today set April 2 as the date when the increase should be effective, but asked for a conference on the matter at an early date. The executive committee of the mill owners who have previously declared they would close the mill gates and suspend operations rather than grant an advance that they say the mills cannot afford, considered the demand but made no reply.

Along with the demands for advance in pay today came announcement from the Germania Mills at Holyoke, and the Hadley Mills at South Hadley Falls, both textile plants, both of wage increases of ten per cent.

Duke of York May Rule a Dominion

LONDON, March 16.—The Duke of York is to be created either Governor-General of South Africa or Viceroy of India, according to current Court information.

The former appointment is regarded as being more probable. At present the post is held by Prince Arthur of Connaught, who, when his two-year term of office expired, was asked to remain for a further twelve months and has again been requested to remain for yet another year. That would mean his return to England at the end of 1923, which would fit in with the arrangements of the Duke of York.

On the other hand, Lord Reading is anxious to resign the Viceroyalty of India at the earliest possible moment. But the difficulties of this position are so great, and so much depends on the personal abilities of the occupant, that it is felt to be unfair to place a young man in the job.

The nominal handship of the Dominion seems to be becoming a natural career for British royals. The first instance was when the Marquis of Lorne—afterwards Duke of Argyll—son-in-law of Queen Victoria, became Governor-General of Canada in 1878. The post was later held by the Duke of Connaught and his son, Prince Arthur, has been a great success in South Africa.

The Duke of York has had a good training for an appointment of the kind. A very studious, thoughtful youth, he concentrated while at Cambridge University on civics and economics and questions relating to British Empire administration. He has developed into quite a good public speaker and is expected to make good in his job. His younger brother, Prince Henry, is likely to follow a similar career.

Religious Revival Sweeping Ulster

BELFAST, Mar. 16.—The Ulster capital, the scene of ten thousand religious and political battles, past, present and perhaps, future, is just at present the scene of an intensely religious revival.

Services being conducted by Pastor Nicholson have taken Belfast by storm, with the result that the employees of the great shipyards at Queens' Island are now daily marching home from their toll to the tune of "Onward, Christian Soldiers!" or "When We Shall Gather at the River," sung by the shipbuilders themselves. In many cases they march, supperless, from work straight to a church service.

The North of Ireland is proving a fertile field for Pastor Nicholson. Some of the results of the revival are:

A total absence of swearing in the shipyards.

Many employers have received back stolen goods.

Large quantities of tools "borrowed" from shipyards have been returned.

EARTHQUAKE STARTS OIL IN WELL THAT HAD QUIET

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Mar. 16.—Coincident with the earthquake felt in this section of Montana recently, an oil well near here resumed flowing and oil men are wondering whether earthquakes might not be a good substitute for nitroglycerine in "tickling" oil wells into production.

The well in question had been flowing steadily for some time until a few months ago, when it slowed down and finally quit producing at all. Following the tremors oil again spurted from the well at an even greater flow than ever before.

Colds are merely congestion. Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster, it does the work without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

Prince in the Greenville Circuit Court annulling the marriage of Chester M. Goodyear, Jr., of Greenville, to Nina T. Reynolds Goodyear. The court held that Mrs. Goodyear was a bona fide resident of Georgia when she obtained a divorce from Sam W. Reynolds in that state. South Carolina courts cannot grant divorces.

STAUNTON, Va., March 16.—Taking a looking glass, a rocking chair and a butcher knife with her to an outhouse at her home near Mount Sidney, Mrs. Noah J. Boyers, 45 years old, made a desperate attempt to take her own life today. Tonight her condition was reported as being critical, her physician stating that even if she lived through the night, pneumonia was very likely to develop.

While no one saw her attempt to commit suicide, it is presumed she sat herself in the chair, held the mirror in front and drew the butcher knife across her throat. The result was a ghastly looking wound.

PAINTING HELD A SACRILEGE

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Mar. 16.—Holding that the J. Francois Kaufman Painting, "father forgave them for they know not what they do," now hanging in the Society of Independent Artists Exhibition, outrages public decency, Magistrate Rittenbaum today held Abraham Baylson, secretary of the society in $25 bail for trial.

The painting depicts William Jennings Bryan spilling wine which Christ has just changed from water, while Andrew J. Volstead, author of the federal prohibition enforcement act and William H. Anderson, New York superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League look on.

The obvious purpose of the painting Judge Rittenbaum said, is to indicate that the miracle of changing water to wine, if performed in this day, would constitute a violation of the Volstead Act. Volstead apparently is placing Christ under arrest or holding him up to scorn or ridicule for making the wine.

"Though the painting certainly is sacrilegious there is no provision in the penal law making sacrilege punishable," Magistrate Rittenbaum said in his opinion. "The offense is covered by the penal law section which says that a person who wilfully outrages public decency is guilty of a misdemeanor."

Baylson's counsel submitted a brief as follows:

"Christ is shown after he has transformed the water into wine, so that those present at the wedding feast might partake of the wine and rejoice accordingly. The deliberate spilling of the wine with the approval of Messrs. Volstead and Anderson and the consequent interference with the purpose of the miracle is intended by the artist to emphasize the fanaticism of these gentlemen in their zeal for the cause of universal prohibition."

"The painting is a protest of an indignant Christian shocked at the impiety of politicians in their attempt to undo the work of Christ by undoing the gift he has made to man for the times of their festivity and rejoicing."

It was revealed today that the reports received by the department gave officials every reason to believe the French were disposed to accommodate international commerce in the Ruhr.

FILES PLEA OF JUSTIFICATION

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 16.—Representative Collins, of Mississippi, today filed a plea of justification in response to the suit alleging libel brought against him by the Rev. James E. Arnold, of Union, Miss., who asked $100,000 damages. Representative Collins contended that it was his duty during a primary election campaign in which he was opposed by Mrs. Arnold to acquaint the voters of the district with records which purported to show that his opponents husband was of mixed blood.

The Rev. Mr. Arnold, who is a missionary among the Choctaw Indians in Mississippi, in his suit named T. J. McKinley, a local agent in charge of Choctaw Indians in that state and Thomas J. Scott, his chief clerk, as co-defendants with Mr. Collins. He charged that they entered into a conspiracy to formulate the alleged statements and published them so late in the campaign he was unable to contradict them before the election in which his wife was defeated.

WOMEN CHEAPEN BY APING MALE

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Mar. 16.—Women are weakening and cheapening themselves by indulging in masculine pursuits, Dr. Arthur Holmes, professor of psychology at the University of Pennsylvania, said in a speech here today. He expressed himself as opposed to an educator to anything in which woman appeared as an imitator of man, including such things as rifle range practice, boxing and basket ball.

"You hear a great deal about the emancipation of woman nowadays," said Dr. Holmes. "I for one am for it. I wish she would emancipate herself from a lot of her foolish positions. Particularly do I long for the day when she will be free from her present obsession to imitate man in everything, and return to her occupation of being feminine, the sphere where she belongs and where she can have all the liberty she pleases."

"However, if women must fight, let them use the original weapons which were the birthright of Mother Eve. They are dangerous enough and women can do more damage by shooting glances than by shooting rifles. Women want to be original, and by all means let them be so. They are not original in making absurd attempts to do the things that men do."

"As an educator and psychologist I seriously affirm that if women continue in their present endeavors to imitate men, wearing men's clothes, training in men's military camps, playing men's games and parting their short hair on the left side, they will ultimately weaken and cheapen their sex. Women after all must have the good opinion of men, and there is no better way to bring that about than for them to be as feminine as possible."

"Basketball is the worst game ever invented for the growing girl, aside from its masculine qualities. It is hard on the body. Women are better off playing solitaire or bridge."

Irish Free State Government Now Very Optimistic

DUBLIN, Mar. 16.—On the eve of St. Patrick's Day attention is naturally being directed here to the status of the conflict between the Irish Free State and the irreconcilable Republican element and the outlook for peace.

Up to this date all rumors of peace have been unfounded. The fight is still apparently as active as ever and the opponents of the government continue to claim that they are winning but the recent capture of important Republican military chiefs in Ireland followed by the wholesale cornering of their friends in Great Britain have evidently weakened the Republican resistance.

Publication from time to time of Bannion De Valera's captured correspondence reveals him in a despondent mood. As the Republican ranks thin out, the fight is becoming less of a military adventure and more in the nature of a general attack on all property, the idea apparently being that, as the government will have to pay eventually for such loss, these exploits will lead it to bankruptcy.

Hence, houses are burned which belong to men unconnected with politics and of no importance to the Free State ranks. Their mansions, however, are big enough to swell the bill.

The government was never more optimistic than at present, and its members never more determined to suppress the armed opposition. They claim that they do not make war on any man's opinion unless he backs it with the gun or petrol can but that against violence, whether directed at officials, troops or private individuals, the government is inexorable.

The captures in England and Scotland appear to have offered the Republicans an opportunity for propaganda, as showing the willingness of the Free State government to invite the British aid and employ British police acting under the British statutes to arrest their active forces.

The government, however, is indifferent to argumentative attack from the Republicans. The ministers conceive that their job is to save the Free State, and they have abandoned altogether the conciliatory attempts made last year to retain or win the support of Republicans. Their drastic action is not confined to imprisonment and execution of Irish; wherever disorders exist throughout the country, counter measures are taken.

For instance, many farmers have taken advantage of present conditions to seize other people's land, and in frequent cases use other people's grazing ranches on which to pasture their cattle without cost. In these cases the government has promptly seized and sold the cattle, the sums realized being used as compensation for the landlairs and others whose fields were invaded.

A measure just passed by the Dail Eireann, gives widest powers to the sheriffs in the enforcement of decrees for debts. This will immediately have the effect of enabling shopkeepers to collect money long due and what is perhaps of more immediate concern to the government, will greatly facilitate the collection of taxes.

There is no doubt in the minds of disinterested observers that the government is governing and some of those persons who once thought it too quiescent are now complaining that its attitude is too stiff.

Numerous peace moves are constantly being organized, but the government turns them all down and insists that its own terms—the unconditional surrender of all arms—are the most to which it will ever agree.

An influential move was recently in progress in Munster, headed by the Archbishop of Cashel. Its idea was an immediate truce until after a general election, and the dumping in safe custody of all the Republican arms under a pledge to hand them over to whatever government the Irish people then elected. It was claimed this would secure, some time this year, realization of the principles contended for by the government and meanwhile save the faces of the irregulars.

But before the irregulars had time to answer the Archbishop, the government turned down the proposals.

As it is believed no other project has any better chance of acceptance the falling in well informed quarters is that the fight must go to the finish and that the finish will be soon.

Why Fisco Fertilizers Are Superior and Incomparable

Phosphoric Acid, Nitrogen (commonly called Ammonia) and Potash are three necessary elements required for every crop. Of these three elements, AMMONIA IS THE MOST IMPORTANT AND THE MOST DIFFICULT TO SECURE IN A FULLY AVAILABLE FORM.

Ammonia is derived from Animal, Vegetable or Mineral sources, but Agricultural Colleges and farmers agree that ANIMAL AMMONIATES DERIVED FROM FISH MAKE THE BEST PLANT FOOD KNOWN.

The Fisheries Products Company are the largest producers of Fish Scrap Ammoniates in the world and manufacture a pure Fish Fertilizer in connection with other Fish Products.

Fish Scrap is actually worth more than double the market value of other Organic or Mineral Ammoniates. On this basis, the various brands of our famous FISCO Fertilizers are actually worth from $5.00 to $15.00 per ton more than other makes of fertilizers having the same analysis. This is the reason thousands of Southern farmers are able to testify THEY USE ONE-THIRD LESS OF THE FAMOUS FISCO FERTILIZERS and at the same time INCREASE THEIR CROP YIELD FROM 50 TO 100 PER CENT.

The Potash in our Tobacco Special is derived from imported German Sulphate of Potash exclusively.

HE'S NIGHT AVIATOR

(Special to The Bee.)

OMAHA, Neb., March 17.—Almost every evening Jack Knight climbs into his plane and floats skyward. Then he cruises along with the big moon above and the sleeping world below him.

Knight, called the ace of air mail pilots, has been assigned to learn all he can about flying at night—bureaucratic of the past. He has been released from regular duty that he may have time for experimenting.

This work is preparatory to the establishment of continuous transcontinental mail service in which night-flying will play a big part.

Post-War Hero. Knight was bitterly disappointed because he was kept during the war at a southern field teaching army pilots how to fly instead of himself being sent overseas.

But when the war was over—Knight saved the lives of three by his spectacular "serum flight" in 1920 when he rushed a special serum from Elkhart, Ill. to New York after the time olive poisoning scare.

Later flying at night over territory which he had not even traversed by train in the day-time Knight, as a volunteer, saved the first contagious disease—diphtheria—by the air mail from falling down in the spring of 1921. He flew in the darkness from North Platte, Neb., to Chicago.

Miss Knight, daughter of a Grand Rapids (Mich.) clergyman has 300 houses in the air to her credit and is just enthusiastic over aviation as her husband.

"I wouldn't have my husband in any business of work for all the world," she says. "I never worry over him when he is flying. I just wish that I could be along."

Majority Rule in Ireland Now Safe Avers Fitzgerald

BY DESMOND FITZGERALD.
DUBLIN, Mar. 16.—Ireland has been made safe for majority rule.

That is one of the happy aspects of a year which has involved bitter debates and unnecessary bloodshed in Ireland. With her elected Legislature controlling for the first time her own army, police, finance and law courts, Ireland is recovering something of the enthusiasm for the new era which the actions of Mr. De Valera's followers had checked when the result of the Anglo-Irish negotiations was first declared. It is now a more stable spirit—practical, seeking to serve and build up a state worthy of the ideals of all the men who died for Ireland.

Today the Irish Government is stronger than at any time since its establishment. Progress has been made in every department. The elimination of the irregulars as a military factor increases daily the momentum of governmental development.

The revolt no longer attempts to maintain a military appearance. It has degenerated into a terrorism directed against individuals and unprotected houses and towns. The mass of the people have not been moved from allegiance to the Government which they themselves elected.

People here head with amazement some of the false or distorted versions of Irish affairs which are given out by the irregulars' missionaries in the United States. They talk of hundreds of thousands of Republicans in arms against the Free State; they declare the Army is full of Black and Tans; they depict the Irish Ministers as inspired by the lust of cruelty. Their hysterical imaginations run riot in an effort to stem the tide of public feeling against them and their war on the people.

The firmness of the Irish Government has already had good effects. Sovereignty of popular rule is safe in their hands.

PRICES IN ALL LINES ARE INCREASING SLOWLY
By J. N. Fanning.

ST. LOUIS, Mar. 16.—Prices in all lines from raw materials to finished products are increasing throughout the southeast and southwest but they are increasing so slowly and imperceptibly that the advances are not having a depressing effect on buying. The volume of business is so large and the strength of prosperity so great that gradual advances are easily absorbed.

A PUZZLE A DAY

There is a certain number which, multiplied by 3, gives a total made up of the same figure repeated three times. Multiplied by 6, it gives a total composed of another figure three times repeated. The same thing will occur if the number is multiplied by 9, 12, 15, 18, 21, 24 or 27. What is the number?

Yesterday's answer:

VICAR

IMPROVEMENT IN STREET CAR SERVICE.

As soon as our new equipment is installed and we have additional power we intend to speed up the schedule on the Main Street line and eliminate the wait now necessary at Park Avenue (at corner of Ballou Park).

We will also combine the Loop and South Main Street lines.

The old cars on the Loop line will be scrapped.

We hope to be able to do this by July 1st.

Spring Furniture Exposition

WE HAVE anticipated the demand for Better Homes in this community and our floors are crowded with seasonable merchandise, much of which was bought at the Grand Rapids and Southern furniture markets last summer at prices much lower than the present.

The very best manufacturers and craftsmen's products are represented on our floors.

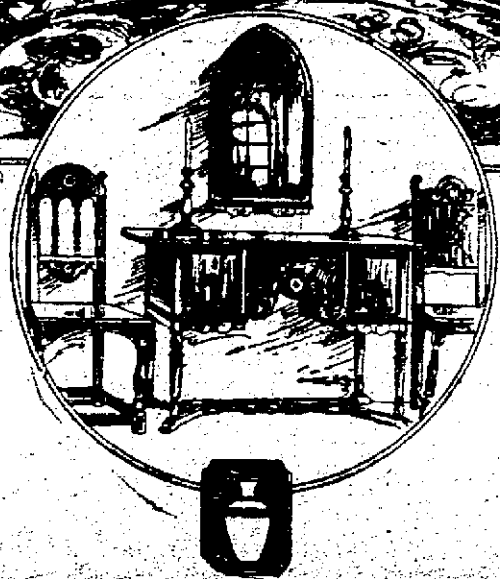

Whether you are in need of an odd piece or a complete outfit we invite you to come in and see this mammoth exposition of furniture and rugs.

Courteous and prompt service awaits you here.

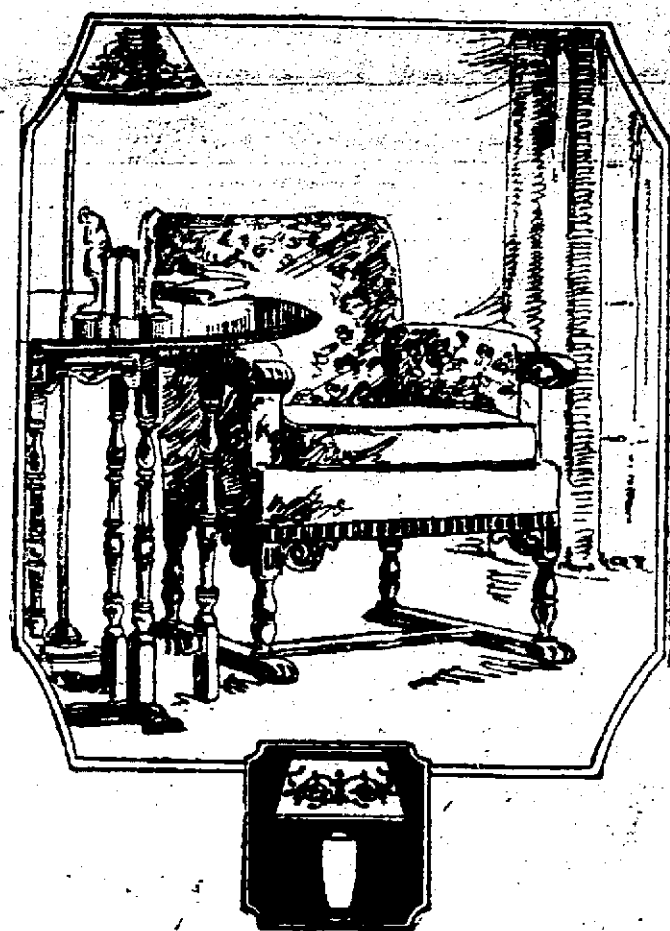

Read the messages on the following pages from a few of our manufacturers and remember when you make a purchase from us we guarantee absolute satisfaction.

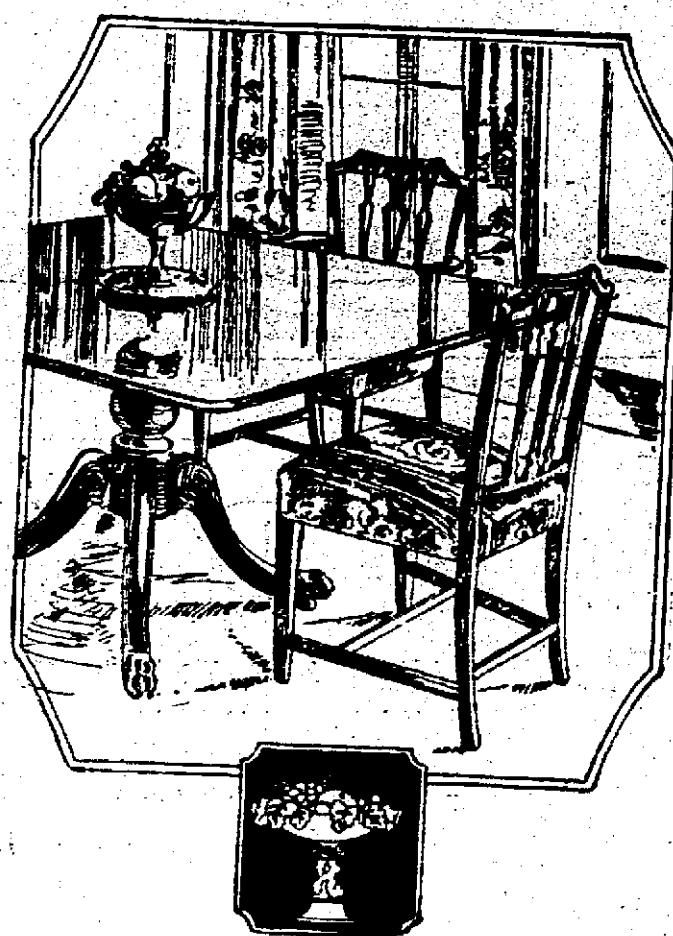

THE HOME should be the unconscious expression of your own individuality. Therefore when choosing a table, a suite or a chair, you first want to make sure that it "Belongs" in your home, and secondly that it will give you good service. Our furniture is made by expert craftsmen; the styles, materials and workmanship are excellent and will resist many years of hard wear. Our assortments are so comprehensive that you will find it easy to select furniture that permits you to carry out your own individual good taste without great expenditure. We are sure that a call will convince you.

ALL the world is filled with the spirit of spring! In the home it manifests itself in many ways—a new bedroom suite, some colorful drapes, a glimmering mirror or just a general rearrangement of furniture.

OUR Spring Furniture Exposition offers many suggestions in furniture and furniture arrangement for the home and porch. Everything in connection with Home decoration, everything that is artistic as well as practical is displayed in its most useful manner.

THE pleasure of buying the thing you want at the price you know is right is further enhanced by the spirit of co-operation you will always find here when you do not wish to invest the total price immediately.

PERSONAL COMPARISON THE TRUE TEST OF VALUES

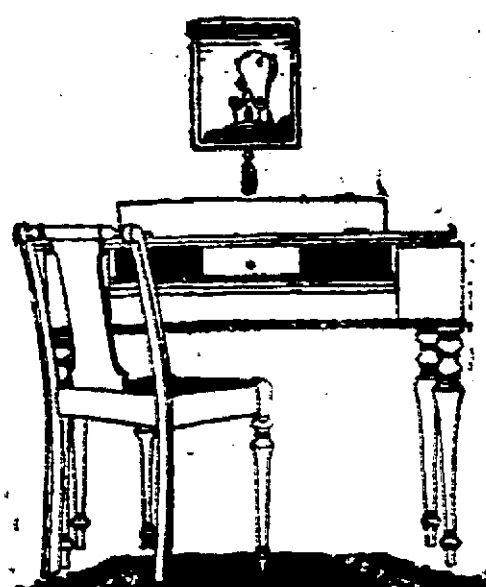

THE purchase of home furnishings carries a very important responsibility which should have serious consideration. The good taste, judgment and intelligence expressed in the selection of home furnishings determine the environment in which we live influences our very lives.

Surely then, we should not permit the lure of some seeming bargain to sway us to buy on impulse without first "proving" the bargain by value comparison and making sure that it really fits our needs.

The mere proclamation of a so-called price reduction does not necessarily presage better value than you could get where no such proclamation is made. The only real test of value is actual personal comparison.

To make value comparison involves no obligation and requires but a little extra time. And surely this is justified in a transaction which involves home comfort over such a long period of years—and especially when there is a prospect of saving money without the sacrifice of quality or desirability which is too often associated with the "bargain" offering.

The Bledsoe Furniture Company invites comparisons in the inexpensive as well as the finer furnishings, all of which are shown in ample variety here.

The Garland Policy of Assurance

With Each Garland Gas Range Sold There Is Presented to the Buyer a Policy of Assurance. This Policy Is a Guarantee, signed by Garland Officials and by Officials of the Bledsoe Furniture Co. You May Feel Absolutely Assured, When Buying a Garland Gas Range, That It Will Satisfy You in Every Way

GARLAND, THE VERY PEAK OF VALUE IN FINE GAS RANGES

"Garlands" are Preferred in more than 4,000,000 American Homes; and the great majority of Leading Hotels and Institutions also use "Garland" Appliances.

Garland Gas Ranges are better in design and better in construction.

Their top burners save 10% in gas.

The Garland oven bakes perfectly because it distributes the heat evenly and because it is scientifically ventilated.

When baking bread in a Garland oven, for instance, you need not shift the pans about, because the oven bakes as well in one spot as in another—as efficiently on the top as on the bottom.

GARLAND RANGES BUILT BY WORLD'S LARGEST STOVE MAKERS

Garland ranges are the fine product of the Michigan Stove Co., the world's largest manufacturers of heating and cooking appliances with a history of 52 years of quality manufacturing. Behind each Garland Range, too, are the vast resources which enable this company to produce better ranges at lower cost.

Garland ranges were built as good 52 years ago as Garland knew how to build them then, and they are being built today as good as Garland knows how to build them now. You can buy a Garland with confidence, because you know that behind it is a firm of high manufacturing standards and absolute integrity.

GARLAND RANGES TRADITIONAL IN THOUSANDS OF AMERICAN FAMILIES

Garland products are used in more than 4,000,000 American homes and institutions.

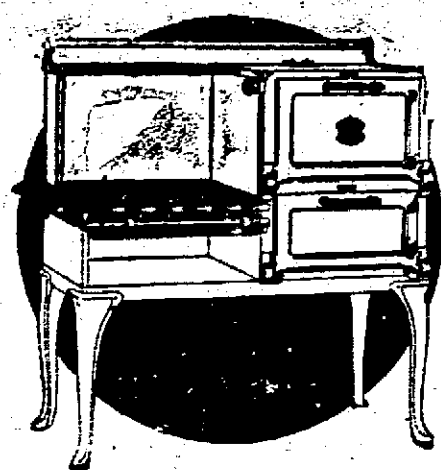

The Garland range is a tradition of three and four generations in tens of thousands of American families. Grandmother and mother and daughter know it as a better range—better for baking and better for cooking; as a more economical range, and as a more convenient range.

They know it, too, as an ornament to the kitchen for every Garland range is so designed that it is easily kept clean, and it is a handsome product in itself.

WHY MOST HOTELS USE GARLAND RANGES

It is a fact that the great majority of our leading American hotels and institutions use Garland Ranges. They prefer Garland, because of the better principles of design and the better construction, which makes Garland also preferred in the home.

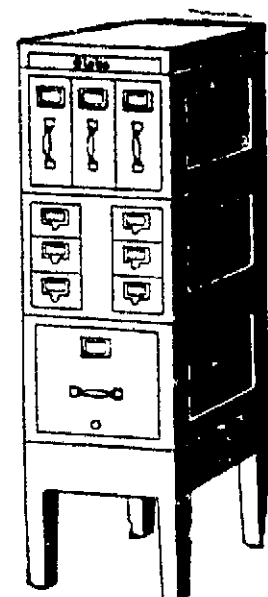

You cannot go wrong when you buy a Garland Range. You can buy in the absolute assurance that you are getting the highest investment value for your money, and that your range will serve you long and well.

BUILT—TO—ENDURE.

Filing Cabinets and Sectional Bookcases

IN WOOD AND STEEL

IN ALL PERIOD DESIGNS.

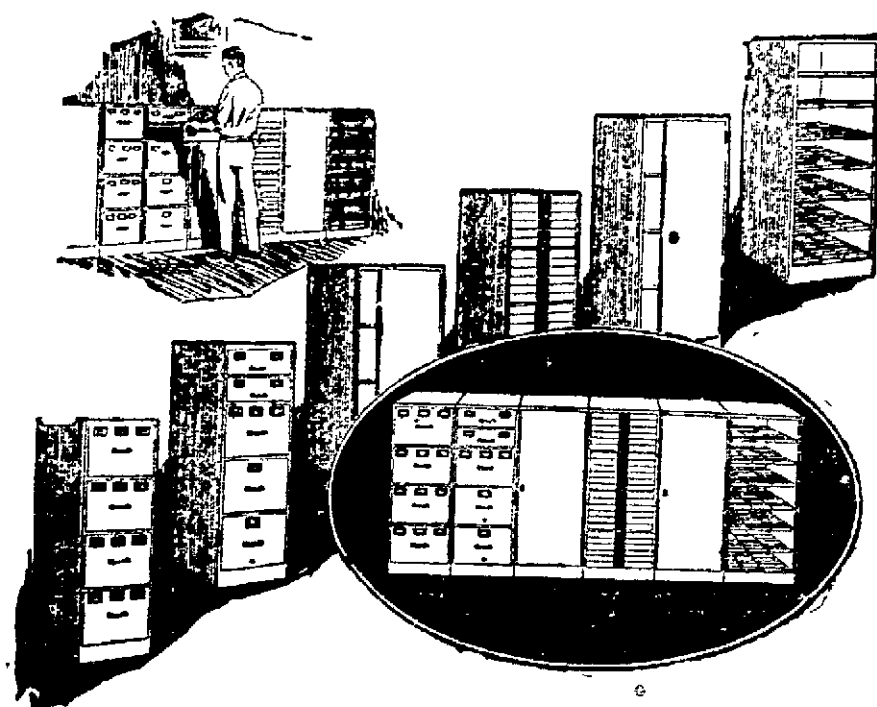

Every business expects to grow and a business planned for a consistent growth has made the right start. Office equipment should be standardized—filing devices adopted that can be added to and combined with those in use and still maintain a harmonious appearance—like the Globe-Wernicke Filing Cabinets.

GLOBE-WERNICKE FILING CABINETS.

Have "kept" correspondence for 40 years. They have kept pace with changing conditions and improvements.

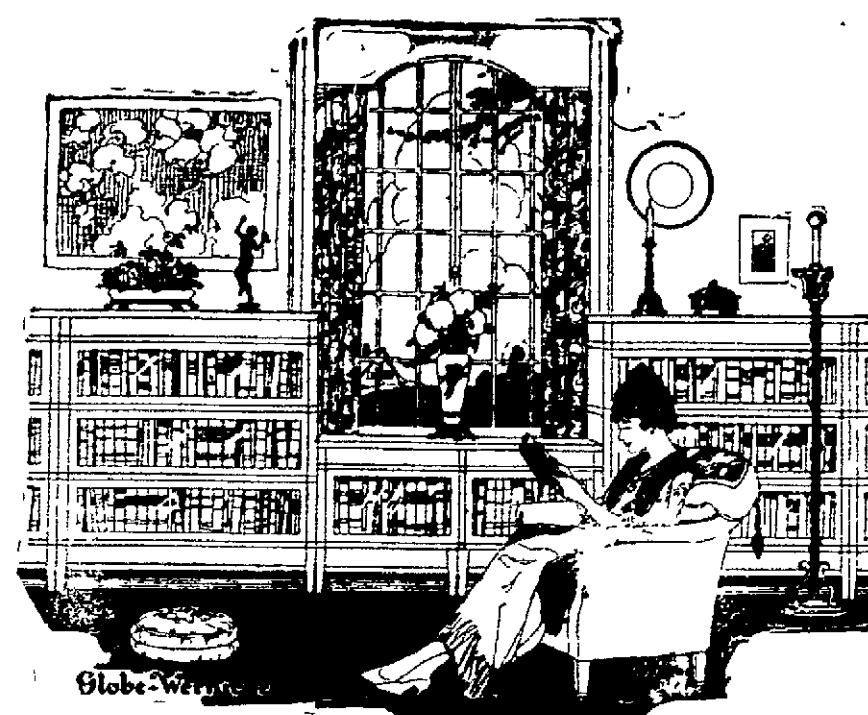

They are designed for convenience, protection and durability. And the public acknowledges their superiority by using more Globe-Wernicke Cabinets than of any other manufacture. Made in both wood and steel.

Standardize on Globe-Wernicke filing equipment and your future requirements will always be obtainable.

GLOBE-WERNICKE STEEL UPRIGHT FILING CABINETS

Are the product of years of manufacturing experience. Enamel baked in special ovens. Files are equipped with progressive bottom roller slides, and slide in or out at the touch of a finger. The construction is sturdy—All parts are welded together.

The decorative possibilities of Globe-Wernicke Sectional Bookcases are almost limitless. Constructed in all period designs they are a distinctive feature in any room as well as the most satisfactory bookcase ever devised.

Today Sectional Bookcases are recognized as standard, and three-fourths of all the sectional cases in use are Globe-Wernicke. That denotes preference, superior design and workmanship, and creates the greatest re-sale value. And three-fourths of the public are most likely right.

Sectional construction enables you to build the Globe-Wernicke cases around windows, in corners, beside fireplaces, wherever artistic taste and convenience may dictate. Our catalog illustrates many artistic arrangements and gives full information. It is yours for the asking.
